GRAVE DIGGER - Tunes of Wacken (LIM.100 BLUE DLP*LIVE 2002*1st TIME ON VINYL) - 33

Jolly Roger Records 2021 – Brandnew Lim. 100 BLUE Double LP - first time on Vinyl !

The beginnings of Grave Digger date back to 1980. In 1983 they released their debut album "Heavy Metal Breakdown", second album "Witch Hunter" in 1985. Festival appearances, a tour as the supporting act for Helloween, and a triple headlining tour with Celtic Frost and Helloween followed before the release of the third album "War Games" in January 1986, all on Noise Records. Then Uwe Lulis on guitar joined in 1987 and the band's name was changed to Digger, under which they released the album "Stronger Than Ever". This album had anything in common with the earlier music of Grave Digger and it was not accepted by fans. As a result, Chris Boltendahl declared the break-up of the band at the end of 1987. However, the band partially reformed in 1991. Chris Boltendahl and Uwe Lulis, along with two newcomers, Tomi Göttlich and Jörg Michael (Rage, later in Running Wild, Stratovarius), released a comeback record, "The Reaper", returning to the true Heavy Metal roots of Grave Digger. "Symphony Of Death" is released in 1994, with the same line-up of "The Reaper". Then other great albums follow such as "Heart of Darkness" (1995), "Tunes of War" (1996), "Knights of the Cross" (1998), "Excalibur" (1999), all with the same powerful lineup except for the drummers, Frank Ullrich first and Stefan Arnold (Capricorn) then.

"Tunes of Wacken" is the band's first official live, recorded in 2002, completely focused on the previous albums before "Grave Digger" released in 2001, which features Manni Schmidt (Rage) on guitar instead of Uwe Lulis. Kindly licensed by Sony Music, available for the very first time on vinyl, remastered by Patrick W. Engel

EZRA BROOKS / SERPENT RIDER - Visions Of Esoteric Splendor (US EPIC METAL*LIM.500) - 14

No Remorse Records 2021 – Brandnew Split release including EZRA BROOKS and SERPENT RIDER.

Limited to 500 copies, NO REPRESS!

About EZRA BROOKS: Created in 2011 by S. Vincent (Smoulder), one-man project Ezra Brooks is a vision of arcane heavy metal influenced by the strange, unpolished, and forgotten obscurities of the '80s, '90s, and beyond.

Following the release of "Target" in 2016, the "Visions Of Power" split in 2019 and the "Gods, Men, and Death" demo in 2019, Ezra Brooks is set to unleash the split album "Visions of Esoteric Splendor" in 2021 alongside US metal newcomers Serpent Rider. S. Vincent is joined this time around by Michigan metal veteran Matt Preston (formerly of Borrowed Time and currently of Prelude to Ruin), whose axe wielding skills sharpen the Ezra Brooks tracks "The Helm of Sacorb", "Am I Just Paranoid?", and "When The Future Fails", transforming them in otherworldly ways.

About SERPENT RIDER: Serpent Rider came into its infancy in 2015 as Skyway Corsair, but quickly broke up. It came back in 2017 later under the new band name, which comes from a line from Manilla Road's "The Ram". After two years, the band's first demo, "Pour Forth Surquidous", came out independently as a tribute to ancient epic metal a la Dr. Doolittle, Manowar, and Manilla Road. Shortly after the demo, the band needed to change lineups once again to accommodate a move to Seattle from Los Angeles. Now back with a split with the mighty Ezra Brooks from Canada, Serpent Rider is dedicated to arcane and epic heavy metal in all of its most obscure forms, here and forever.

SHADOWLAND - The Necromancer's Castle (NEW*FEMALE FRONTED US METAL*RIOT*I.MAIDEN) - 14

No Remorse Records 2021 – Brandnew Female Fronted traditional Heavy Metal from New York City, in the vein of early Iron Maiden, Riot, Saxon, Judas Priest and the New Wave of British Heavy Metal.

Forged in New York City, 2018 Anno Satanas, Shadowland journeys beyond the chaos portal, sailing through the seas of time to conjure the spirits of the New Wave of British Heavy Metal ancients. Shadowland's debut full-length entitled "The Necromancer's Castle", contains eight weird and fantastical tales set to sounds of old school heavy metal thunder and cover art by Tanya Finder.

"Tanya's vocals echo both the gothic wails of Coven or Wooden Stake and the snarl of Di'Anno-era Maiden, while the moments of chugging riffage and thundering drums show off the band's appreciation for gritty punk and hardcore. That, coupled with Tanya's Stygian album art, makes Shadowland more than your average vest-metal act." - Kerrang! Magazine

Labelled by one astute chronicler as possessing the looks of Sacrilege and the sounds of Judas Priest, Shadowland are: Tanya Finder - Vox, Jeff Filmer - Guitar, Al Bulmer - Guitar, Cedric Obando - Bass, Dave Hawk – Drums.
